SAPro

The Brenntag quality system for food-grade products

Supplier Approval Procedure (SAPro)

SAPro is a Quality Management procedure implemented by Brenntag to standardize the approval process of food-grade products originating from non-EMEA manufacturers.

Key aspects of SAPro manufacturer review include:

- SEQ (Supplier Evaluation Questionnaire)
- Standardized audits and reports
- Comprehensive documentation of the products
- SAPro approval takes place via a standardized verification method

Safety First

Safety, transparency, and traceability of our products are Brenntag's top priorities. Therefore, SAPro approval is a requirement for the purchase of any food-grade product originating from a non-EMEA manufacturer.

SAPro – secures procurement of food-grade products in compliance with current EU regulations and internationally recognized food safety standards.

SAPro is based on a professional risk management system.

SAPro includes reviews of parameters that go beyond the usual parametric analysis in order to provide the best product quality.

SAPro includes the implementation of factory audits directly at the producer's site.

SAPro is a comprehensive process with the aim of sourcing food-grade products from non-EMEA countries safely and in compliance with EU regulations.

The team of specialists from Brenntag Food & Nutrition DACH looks forward to breaking new grounds with you and successfully implementing tailor-made concepts!
